A Breath of Fresh Air in Maid Services

Nature Maids, an eco-friendly maid service hits the Greater Dallas Metroplex.

Richardson, TX, February 14, 2008: Nature Maids is a unique, all natural green cleaning service. They guarantee the use of only biodegradable, eco-friendly and cruelty-free products. Everything from cleaning liquids to mop heads is taken into account. The company even works with major manufacturers to help improve the eco-friendliness of their products, sold at major retailers nation-wide. The service area covers about a thirty mile radius serving Dallas and Collin County, from downtown Dallas to Prosper. With a passion for environmentally healthy cleaning, the people at Nature Maids, from customer service to maids, are always researching the most current and efficient ways of keeping a healthy clean home. The maids are all licensed, bonded and trained in green cleaning practices.

Nature Maids works with customers and can customize cleanings to fit individual needs. One customer had this to say about Nature Maids, "Nature Maids did a thorough and fantastic job, and my home smelled so wonderful afterwards!" Another customer said, "I love using natural products myself and was thrilled to find a cleaning service that did the same."

Nature Maids' CEO, Olga Douglas, can often be found at local eco-friendly events within the DFW area. Seeing the lack of environmentally safe household chemicals used by cleaning services, Olga made it her goal to give people the option for a safer home and a better world. The company mission is "to reduce stress on the environment and you." With the advent of Nature Maids, Greater Dallas has a new alternative in cleaning services: one that makes a world of difference, one house at a time.
